He told the Board that he is very excited to be assigned at Aims. Daniel Heins, has been with the Sheriff’s Department for 6 years and has a background in the transportation industry before that. Mike Kelly was present to answer questions for the Board, but the Board had no questions.

b. Construction Update – Don Plant
Don Plant reported to the Board that the Alliance crew is working on the punch list for the Allied Health and Sciences Building and should have interior items done this week. The weather is delaying work on exterior items. Beaty Hall is currently scheduled for completion on April 1. As the team gets closer to that date, they will begin scheduling the move. A Trustee asked if the building will be used for summer semester. Mr. Plant replied that some areas such as the television studios will take a little longer to complete, but most of the building should be ready for summer. He told the Board that Beaty will house the art and music programs, communication media, graphic technology, computer information systems and math. The building will include a large learning resource and study center. Mr. Plant offered to give new trustees a tour of the building.
c. President’s Executive Summary

Dr. Liddell reported on the following issues:

- The Board received a thank you letter from Narcissa Polonio of ACCT for using an ACCT facilitator for the November retreat.
- The packet included a copy of a letter on higher education funding from Board Chair Beth Bashor to David Skaggs and his reply.
- The Aims Foundation continues to receive donations. Based on the El Pomar grant we received, the Boettcher foundation gave a grant of $100,000.
- The College Promise program continues to grow. This program, initiated by Scott Ehrlich, is to be used for scholarship for District 6 students to attend Aims. Mr. Ehrlich seeded the program with $20,000. Recently the Foundation received an additional $20,000 from Dr. and Mrs. Kemme, as well as several other donations from private donors. A local corporation has pledged a matching grant if donations total $100,000 or more.
- House Counsel Sandra Owens has been selected to present at the Community College Law Conference in February.
- The college received a thank you letter from the Board of the Greeley Chamber of Commerce for hosting Business After Hours in December.
- The executive summary of the Adams Group Report on “The Impact of Public Higher Education in the State of Colorado” was included in the packet. The entire report is available in the president’s office.
- Dr. Liddell reminded the Board that Heather Lelchook, Director of the Downtown Center, was chosen to participate in a Rotary Group Service Exchange trip to Finland. She will be studying education and will receive an Alternative Assignment from the college for part of her time. She will present a brief report to the Board on her return.
- Enrollment for spring semester is up about 4%. Dr. Liddell offered special thanks to the IRE team for identifying students from the outlying campuses for recruiting and enrollment calls.
- She informed the Board that ACCT will be holding a Governance Leadership Institute in San Antonio on April 13 through 15. Trustees Bashor and Neb attended this conference last July and brought back very good reports on its value. Dr. Liddell said that ACCT encourages Board members and college presidents to attend this conference together and asked if any trustees would be interested in attending.
- The college has extended the transitional agreement with Don Plant so that he will stay through the completion of the Beaty Building.
- Dr. Liddell reported that she met with Joe Bilotta, the planning architect for the new west campus. Mr. Bilotta has requested that a trustee, specifically the chair, serve on the steering committee for the project.
- Dr. Liddell complimented PIO on the new “Aims has it all” brochure.
- President Liddell reported that she had recently attended the Mountain States Presidents Conference. At the conference, she received a copy of an article titled “The Immigration Charade.” She provided copies to the Board and indicated that it contains very good information for colleges. She also noted that a conference speaker, David Baime with AACC, told the group that college accreditation will be a huge issue in the near future. The federal government wants to oversee the regional accreditation process. Dr. Liddell will keep the Board up-to-date on this issue.
She informed the Board that the Innovations Conference from the League for Innovations is being held in Denver this year. A copy of the flyer was given to each board member.

Dr. Liddell reminded the Board that she had earlier distributed a copy of the new initiatives process flow chart. College administration will use this process to examine the next step of Project Crossroads and the Master Facilities Plan. This involves the peripheral landscaping around Beaty Hall and the campus “spine”, the walkway that will facilitate student movement between buildings and parking areas on the campus. The final part of this stage of the plan is to move all student services to the College Center, so that students can receive advising and assessments, register for class and purchase textbooks all in one building.

There are typically few changes from one year to the next. It is a cumulative report, with many people contributing. Donna Souther told the Board that the college must comply with certain requirements in preparation of the Academic Master Plan. She thanked Greg Appling and the IRE team, Damion Cordova, for his work on the diversity report, and other employees for their efforts toward completion of the plan. This year, there were a few additions to the report including campus planning and distance education, plus several appendices. Dean Souther noted that the plan is intended as a working document. Trustee Mike Geile offered congratulations on the thoroughness of the report and asked about the partnership with Fort Lupton High School for the horticultural program.
